THE MAHARASHTRA POLICE ACT 1951

An Act to consolidate and amend the law for the regulation of the Police Force in the State of Bombay

History of Maharashtra police Act:

During the 17th century (until 1655), the area of present-day Mumbai was under Portuguese control. The Portuguese formed a basic law enforcement structure in this area with the establishment of a Police outpost in 1661.

The origins of the present day Mumbai police can be traced back to a militia organized by Gerald Aungier, the then Governor of Bombay in 1669. This Bhandari Militia was composed of around 500 men and was headquartered at Mahim, Sevree and Sion. In 1672, the judicial overview of police decisions by courts was introduced, although none of the judges had any actual legal training. The situation remained unchanged through the Maratha wars. However, by 1682, policing remained stagnant. There was only one ensign for the whole Bhandari militia, and there were only three sergeants and two corporals.

In 1936, the Sind province police was split from the Bombay province police. In 1947, it was renamed to Bombay state police, following India's independence. After the States Reorganisation Act, 1956, the Bombay state was divided into Gujarat police (later renamed Karnataka police) and Maharashtra Police.

MODULE 2

THE PREVENTION OF CURRUPTION ACT ,1988

INTRODUCTION

The Prevention of Corruption Act, 1947, was amended in 1964 based on the recommendations of the Santhanam Committee. There are provisions in Chapter IX of the Indian Penal Code to deal with public servants and those who abets them by way of criminal misconduct. There are also provisions in the Criminal Law Amendment Ordinance, 1944, to enable attachment of ill-gotten wealth obtained through corrupt means, including from transferees of such wealth. The Bill seeks to incorporate all these provisions with modifications so as to make the provisions more effective in combating corruption among public servants. This Act envisages widening the scope of the definition of the expression "public servant", incorporation of offences under sections 161 to 165-A of the Indian Penal Code, enhancement of penalties provided for these offences and incorporation of a provision that the order of the trial Court upholding the grant of sanction for prosecution would be final if it has not already been challenged and the trial has commenced. In order to expedite the proceedings, provisions for day-to-day trial of cases and prohibitory provisions with regard to grant of stay and exercise of powers of revision on interlocutory orders have also been included.

Since the provisions of sections 161 to 165-A are incorporated in the proposed legislation with an enhanced punishment, it is not necessary to retain those sections in the Indian Penal Code. Consequently, it is proposed to delete those sections with the necessary saving provision.

The act consists of 5 chapters spread across 31 sections.<sup>[2]</sup>

Preliminary

This chapter contains sections describing title, territorial extent, basic definitions, etc. Two of the main definitions are "public servant" and "undue advantage". Following are some sections:

Definitions:

The most important definitions are that of :

- Public duty
- Public servant

1) Public Duty:

It means a duty that is done for the benefit of the State, the public or the community at a large. In this context, State would mean:

- a) A corporation established by or under a Central, Provincial or State Act.
- b) An authority or a body owned controlled or aided by the Government company as defined in Sec. 617 of the Companies Act, 1956.

2) Public Servant:

It is a unique term in Anti-corruption law, being the deciding factor at the threshold, of one's liability, depending on his being a public servant. The term 'Public Servant' was not defined under the PCA, 1947 and the Act adopted the definition of the term under sec. 21 of the Indian Penal Code. The PCA of 1988 provides a wider definition in the Act itself under clause (c) of sec. 2.

the following are the salient aspects of the new definition:

- a) Under cl (c) of Sec. 2 of the PC, the emphasis is on public duty and not on the Authority remunerating.
- b) The definition is enlarged so as to include the office-bearers of the registered co-operative societies receiving any financial aid from the Government, or from a Government corporation or company, the employees of universities, public service commissions and banks etc.

The following genres of persons fall within the ambit of 'public servant':

- a) Any person who is paid by the government or local authority or remunerated by way of fees or commission for the performance of or is in the service of a corporation established by or under a Central, Provincial or State Act, or an authority or body owned or controlled or aided by the Government company as defined in the Companies Act, 1956.
- b) Any Judge or any person authorized by a court of justice to perform any duty, in connection with the administration of justice or any arbitrator to whom any cause or matter has been referred for decision or report by a court of justice or report by a court of justice or by a competent public authority.
- c) Any person who holds an office result to which he is empowered to prepare, publish maintain or revise an electoral roll or to conduct an election or part of an election, or is authorized or required to perform any public duty.
- d) Any person who is the president, secretary or other office bearer of a registered co-operative society engaged in agriculture, industry, trade or banking, receiving or having received any financial aid from the Central or

State Government or any authority or body owned, controlled or aided by Government or Government company as defined in Sec. 617 of the Companies Act, 1956.

e) Any person who is a chairman, member or employee of any service commission or Board or a member of any selection committee appointed by such Commission or Board for the conduct of any examination or making any selection on their behalf.

f) Any person who is the Vice-Chancellor or member of any governing body, professor, reader or lecturer of any University and any person whose services have been availed of by a University.

g) An office-bearer or an employee of an educational, scientific, social, cultural or other institution receiving or having received any financial assistance from the Central or State government or local or other public authority.

Explanation 1 states that it is immaterial whether the person falling within the periphery of the above clauses is appointed by Government or not.

Explanation 2 states that a person who is actually holding the position of the situation of public servant irrespective of the fact that he might not have the right to hold that situation shall be deemed to be 'public servant'.

Provided that in the case of any conviction in a summary trial under this section this shall be lawful for the Special Judge to pass a sentence of imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year. However, when at the commencement of or in the course of a summary trial it appears to the Special Judge that the nature of the case is such that a sentence of imprisonment for a term exceeding one year may have to be passed or it is undesirable to try the case summarily, the Special judge shall record all order to that effect and thereafter recall any witnesses who may have been examined and proceed to hear and re-hear the case in accordance with the procedure prescribed by the said code for the trial of warrant cases by Magistrates. ## MODULE 3

THE MAHARASHTRA CONTROL OF ORGANISED CRIME ACT 1999

1. INTRODUCTION

This act was brought in the year of 1999 with the main purpose to regulate and control the increase in organised crime & terrorism which has seen an upsurge in the economic capital of India by providing a special framework to combat criminal activities like murders of tycoons related to film industry as well by builders, extortion of money from businessmen, abduction etc. which clearly purported the existence of organised gangs in Mumbai, as well as in entire State of Maharashtra.

The extended jurisdiction to the National Capital Territory of Delhi in 2002 of this Act, constitutes one of the peculiar features apart from the power to intercept wires, electronic or oral communication means, admissibility of confessions before senior officials, no provision for anticipatory bail within 6 months to the accused from the date of commission of offence etc.

Thus, to strengthen the existing legal framework and to cope with the increasing use of technology for committing organised crime, in the eyes of Governor of Maharashtra it was necessary to promulgate an ordinance to this effect, which was passed on 24th February, 1999 with the title as ‘Maharashtra Control of Organised Crimes Ordinance 1999’, as both the houses of State Legislature were not in session.

Object and purpose

The statement of object and preamble of the Act, makes it clear that the Act was enacted to achieve the following purpose:

- To make special provisions for prevention and control of, and for coping with, criminal activity by organized crime syndicate or gang;
- It was necessary and expedient to replace the 1999 Ordinance by an Act of the State Legislature for effective implementation and proper adjudication of the offences thereby;
- As Organised Crimes knows no national boundaries and is fueled by illegal wealth generated by contract, killing, extortion, smuggling in contrabands, illegal trade in narcotics kidnappings for ransom, collection of protection money and money laundering, etc which required a special law to deal with such increasing mal practices;

- The possibility of organised crime being operating in the State which was fostering narco terrorism and aiding the terrorist gangs by illegal funding of wealth and black money, required immediate State action for which the Ordinance to this effect which was replaced by the full-fledged Act was needed.

Application of this Act

The Act was already in force by virtue of the Ordinance promulgated to the effect from 24th February 1999 and Section- 1 of the Act clearly specifies that it shall have retrospective effect and deemed to have come into force from such date itself. Moreover, the Act got the assent of the President on 23rd April 1999 and was first published in Maharashtra Government Gazette on 24th April 1999.

The Act extends to the whole State of Maharashtra and by virtue of 2002 order of Union Ministry of Home Affairs, it also extends to the National Capital Territory of Delhi.

‘Organised Crime’, ‘Organised Crime Syndicate’ and ‘Continuing unlawful activity’

The interpretation or definition clause of the Act u/s, 2 defines these terms which are as follows:

- Section 2(e) defines ‘Organised Crime’ which means

“any continuing unlawful activity by an individual, singly or jointly, either as a member of an organised crime syndicate or on behalf of such syndicate, by use of violence or threat of violence or intimidation or coercion, or other unlawful means, with the objective of gaining pecuniary benefits, or gaining undue economic or other advantage for himself or any other person or promoting insurgency”;

- Section 2(f) defines ‘Organised Crime Syndicate’ which means

“a group of two or more persons who, acting either singly or collectively, as a syndicate or gang indulge in activities of organised crime”

To fully understand the meaning of Organised Crime, it is necessary to study the definition of ‘continuing unlawful activity’ which is defined as follows in the Act, so as to have clear interpretation of the former term:

- Section 2(d) ‘continuing unlawful activity’ means

“an activity prohibited by law for the time being in force, which is a cognizable offence punishable with imprisonment of three years or more, undertaken either singly or jointly, as a member of an organised crime syndicate or on behalf of such syndicate in respect of which more than one charge-sheets have been filed before a competent Court within the preceding period of ten years and that Court has taken cognizance of such offence”.

MCOCA 1999 has an overriding effect on other State and Central Acts, and what brings this Act at par with a Central Legislation?

There are two reasons why MCOCA is seen at par with the Central Legislation and in some cases have an overriding effect on State as well as Central Acts:

- Firstly, that being a State Act it has received the assent of the President of India; and
- Secondly, by virtue of Section-25 of the Act which unequivocally quotes while initiating with Non-obstante clause that, anything contained in this Act or any rule or any order made under such rule shall have effect over anything inconsistent therewith contained in any other law for the time being in force and any instrument which is having force of law.

Some of the landmark rulings of the Courts on MCOCA:

□ Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in the case of State of NCT of Delhi v. Brijesh Singh, [2017 SCC OnLine SC 1206] has categorically observed that, ‘‘Organised crime is not an activity restricted to a particular State which is apparent from a perusal of the Statement of Objects and Reasons. A restrictive reading of the words ‘‘competent Court’’ appearing in Section 2 (1)(d) of MCOCA will stultify the object of the Act and therefore charge sheets in other states can also be taken into account.”Bombay High Court in the case of Saquib Abdul Hamid Nachan v. Superintendent, Central Jail, [2017 SCC OnLine Bom 738] has held that, “Undertrial detention under MCOCA cannot be set-off against the sentence imposed in Prevention of Terrorism Act 2002 (POTA).”

Delhi High Court while acquitting 8 accused in a murder case by Additional Sessions Judge Gautam Manna, while stating that “police shall not invoke MCOCA without strict proof of the accused working as members of an organised crime syndicate and not merely on the basis of their previous involvement in criminal cases.”

MODULE 4

The Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985,

The Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985, commonly referred to as the NDPS Act, is an Act of the Parliament of India that prohibits a person to produce/manufacture/cultivate, possess, sell, purchase, transport, store, and/or consume any narcotic drug or psychotropic substance. The Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Bill, 1985 was introduced in the Lok Sabha on 23 August 1985. It was passed by both the Houses of Parliament, received assent from then President Giani Zail Singh on 16 September 1985, and came into force on 14 November 1985. The NDPS Act has since been amended thrice - in 1988, 2001 and 2014. The Act extends to the whole of India and it applies also to all Indian citizens outside India and to all persons on ships and aircraft registered in India.

Under one of the provisions of the act, the Narcotics Control Bureau was set up with effect from March 1986. The Act is designed to fulfill India's treaty obligations under the Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs, Convention on Psychotropic Substances, and United Nations Convention Against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances.

Background

India had no legislation regarding narcotics until 1985. Cannabis smoking in India has been known since at least 2000 BC<sup>[1]</sup> and is first mentioned in the Atharvaveda, which dates back a few hundred years BC. The Indian Hemp Drugs Commission, an Indo-British study of cannabis usage in India appointed in 1893, found that the "moderate" use of hemp drugs was "practically attended by no evil results at all", "produces no injurious effects on the mind" and "no moral injury whatever". Regarding "excessive" use of the drug, the Commission concluded that it "may certainly be accepted as very injurious, though it must be admitted that in many excessive consumers the injury is not clearly marked". The report the Commission produced was at least 3,281 pages long, with testimony from almost 1,200 "doctors, coolies, yogis, fakirs, heads of lunatic asylums, bhang peasants, tax gatherers, smugglers, army officers, hemp dealers, ganja palace operators and the clergy."

Cannabis and its derivatives (marijuana, hashish/charas and bhang) were legally sold in India until 1985, and their recreational use was commonplace. Consumption of cannabis was not seen as socially deviant behaviour, and was viewed as being similar to the consumption of alcohol. Ganja and charas were considered by upper class Indians as the poor man's intoxicant, although the rich consumed bhang during Holi. The United States began to campaign for a worldwide law against all drugs, following the adoption of the Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs in 1961. However, India opposed the move, and withstood American pressure to make cannabis illegal for nearly 25 years. American pressure increased in the 1980s, and in 1985, the Rajiv Gandhi government succumbed and enacted the NDPS Act, banning all narcotic drugs in India.

Recently, in Mohan Lal Versus State of Punjab, Criminal Appeal No. 1880 of 2011, decided on 16.8.2018, A three judge bench of Hon'ble Apex Court held that “fair investigation which is the very foundation of a fair trial, necessarily postulates that the informant and the investigator must not be the same person. Justice must not only be done, but must appear to be done also. Any possibility of bias or a predetermined conclusion has to be excluded. This requirement is all the more imperative in laws carrying a reverse burden of proof. If an informant police official in a criminal prosecution, especially when carrying a reverse burden of proof, makes the allegations, is himself asked to investigate, serious doubts will naturally arise with regard to his fairness and impartiality. It is not necessary that bias must actually be proved. It would be illogical to presume and contrary to normal human conduct, that he would himself at the end of the investigation submit a closure report to conclude false implication with all its attendant consequences for the complainant himself. The result of the investigation therefore, be a foregone conclusion.

General principle of care and protection of children.

3] As per section section 3 of the new Act The Central Government, the State Governments, the Board, and other agencies, as the case may be, while implementing the provisions of this Act shall be guided by the following fundamental principles, namely:—

- (i) Principle of presumption of innocence
- (iii) Principle of participation
- . (iv) Principle of best interest.
- (v) Principle of family responsibility.
- (vi) Principle of safety
- . (vii) Positive measures.
- (viii) Principle of non-stigmatising semantics.
- (ix) Principle of non-waiver of rights
- . (x) Principle of equality and non-discrimination
- . (xi) Principle of right to privacy and confidentiality.
- (xii) Principle of institutionalisation as a measure of last resort.
- (xiii) Principles of natural justice.

(1) Principle of presumption of innocence

Any child shall be presumed to be an innocent of any malafide or criminal intent up to the age of eighteen years. This principle presumes that anything done by the child or the child in conflict with law has been done without mensrea or malafide intention. This principle operates right from the initiation of the proceedings and Sends at the aftercare programme. It simply states that whatever be the act committed and whatever be the circumstances and whether it is done by himself or under the control of the adults or with the influence of peer group should always be considered that the said Act has been committed without mensrea i.e. the Principle of presumption of innocence should be applied for all those activities which has been covered or explicitly stated in the Rule.

(2)principle of dignity and worth

All human beings shall be treated with equal dignity and rights. This principle mandates the agencies involved in the JJ Act are to treat the child with dignity and worth and not to label, stigmatize or discriminate the child. It also mandates the authorities to respect the personal identity and such other things relating to the child right from initial apprehension till the aftercare is over.

(3) Principle of participation

Every child shall have a right to be heard and to participate in all processes and decisions affecting his interest and the child's views shall be taken into consideration with due regard to the age and maturity of the child. Children's right to be heard shall include creation of developmentally appropriate tools and processes of interacting with the child, promoting children's active involvement in decisions regarding their own lives and providing opportunities for discussion and debate.

(4) Principle of best interest.

All decisions regarding the child shall be based on the primary consideration that they are in the best interest of the child and to help the child to develop full potential. Children differ from adults in their physical and psychological development and their emotional and educational needs. Such differences constitute the basis for the lesser culpability of children in conflict with the law. These and other differences are the reasons for a separate juvenile justice system and require a different treatment for children. The protection of the best interests of the child means, for instance, that the traditional objectives of criminal justice, such as repression/retribution, must give way to rehabilitation and restorative justice objectives in dealing with child offenders

(5) Principle of family responsibility.

In a family, a child is introduced to emotions like love and security. The social values and cultural aspects of the community are inculcated in the child within the family background i.e. the primary responsibility of care, nurture and protection of the child shall be that of the biological family or adoptive or foster parents, as the case may be. Though many functions of family like education, health, recreation etc. are being taken up by other social institutions, the family retains its importance as a constituent entity and building block of all societies and communities. Thus, the principle of family responsibility plays a vital role in the administration of juvenile justice as an informal care and all authorities functioning under the JJA should take all the necessary decisions of the child with the active involvement of the family of the children, who are in conflict with law.

(6) Principle of safety

All measures shall be taken to ensure that the child is safe and is not subjected to any harm, abuse or maltreatment while in contact with the care and protection system, and thereafter. It also mandates that the state shall not use restrictive measures in the name of safety of the child.

. (7) Positive measures.

All resources are to be mobilized including those of family and community, for promoting the well - being, facilitating development of identity and providing an inclusive and enabling environment, to reduce vulnerabilities of children and the need for intervention under this Act. The term positive measures include the - avenues for health, education, relationships, livelihoods, leisure, creativity and play. The Principle wants to achieve the objective of facilitation in establishing the personal identity of the child and to enable the child to equip himself to achieve the developments in all the processes relating to the individual growth.

(8) Principle of non-stigmatising semantics

. Adversarial or accusatory words are not to be used in the processes pertaining to a child. For example, it mandates to avoid the following wordings in the process of administration of Justice relating to children, who are in conflict with law. It includes the following - arrest, remand, accused, charge sheet, trial, prosecution, warrant, summons, conviction, inmate, delinquent, neglected, custody or jail

(9) Principle of non-waiver of rights. No waiver of any of the right of the child is permissible or valid, whether sought by the child or person acting on behalf of the child, or a Board or a Committee and any non-exercise of a fundamental right shall not amount to waiver.

. (10) Principle of equality and non-discrimination.

No waiver of any of the right of the child is permissible or valid, whether sought by the child or person acting on behalf of the child, or a Board or a Committee and any non-exercise of a fundamental right shall not amount to waiver.

. (11) Principle of right to privacy and confidentiality.

Every child shall have a right to protection of his privacy and confidentiality, by all means and throughout the judicial process. In other words, no report in any newspaper, magazine, news - sheet or audio - visual media or other forms of communication regarding any inquiry or investigation or judicial procedure, shall disclose the name, address or school or any other particular, which may lead to the identification of a child in conflict with law or a child in need of care and protection or a child victim or witness of a crime. No staff/stakeholder should divulge/ disclose any details to any one regarding any case of CNCP ( Child in Need of Care and Protection) or CCL or identification of the same.

(12) Principle of institutionalisation as a measure of last resort.

Deprivation of liberty has negative consequences for the child's harmonious development and seriously hampers his/her reintegration in society. Deprivation of liberty, including arrest, detention and imprisonment, should be used only as a measure of last resort and for the shortest appropriate period of time, so that the child's right to development is fully respected and ensured. A child shall be placed in institutional care as a step of last resort after making a reasonable inquiry. The principle objective of institutionalization and detention in the juvenile justice system should be to ensure that the offender is free of criminal behaviour as soon as possible.

(13) Principles of natural justice. Basic procedural standards of fairness shall be adhered to, including the right to a fair hearing, rule against bias and the right to review, by all persons or bodies, acting in a judicial capacity under this Act.
